To whom it may concern,

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Jani Elliott.

During the short time I have known Jani, she has displayed a high degree of integrity, responsibility, and ambition as a person. She is definitely more of a leader than a follower, and her presence makes this very apparent. Jani has proven to be an invaluable asset to her peers, and myself, by always showing appreciation and respect towards anyone she comes into contact with.

In short, she is committed, disciplined, and always in a state of mind that allows her to be receptive to learning. Any work place would be doing itself a great service by allowing Jani to become a part of their team. The community and place of employment she serves will benefit greatly, in my humble opinion, by having a very well rounded person, who is skilled, but is still able to put people first, which in these times, is a very rare, but sought after quality.

Respectfully,

Signed,

Dr. Congress
